

October 1

Please pray for our team in Ukraine as some prepare to evacuate Kyiv for safer cities in western Ukraine, including Chernivtsi. Kyiv is under relentless attack, and the strain on our staff and their families is tremendous. Pray for their protection, peace, and strength as they make these difficult decisions. Please also pray that we can quickly upgrade and strengthen our studio in Chernivtsi, giving FEBC-Ukraine two strong broadcast centers so the Gospel can remain on the air even in the most difficult circumstances.

October 2

Please pray for our listeners in Sloviansk. On the night of September 7, a rocket struck next to our studio, damaging the facility. We praise God that no one was injured or killed. Our broadcasts continue, with the signal coming from our Kyiv studio. Please pray especially for our listeners in Sloviansk, many of whom are living under constant danger as the war moves closer to their homes. May our broadcasts bring them the hope and peace of Christ when they need it most.

October 3

Please pray for our team in Russia, where ministry continues under increasing pressure on evangelical Christians. Despite these challenges, we have an extraordinary opportunity to reach millions of new listeners in the coming months as we approach the Christmas season. Pray for courage and wisdom for our team, for open hearts among our listeners, and for greater freedom to proclaim the Good News throughout Russia.

October 4

Please pray for our upcoming conference for young Christian bloggers and media evangelists from Muslim-majority countries, planned for November in Central Asia. Pray for safety for everyone traveling and participating, and especially for Umida and the team organizing the conference. Most of all, pray that God will use this gathering to ignite another powerful wave of evangelism—young believers using media creatively and courageously to bring the Gospel to places where it is difficult to proclaim openly.

October 5

Please pray for members of the FEBC-Ukraine team who are now serving in the Ukrainian military as chaplains. They minister to soldiers and officers facing the realities of war, fear, loss, and death. Pray that God will protect them, give them extraordinary wisdom and compassion, and use their presence and testimony to bring many soldiers and officers to saving faith in Jesus Christ.

October 6

Please pray for FEBC-Russia's online evangelists, who every day personally respond to listeners touched by our broadcasts. Behind every message is a real person—often searching, hurting, or asking serious questions about God. Pray for wisdom and sensitivity for our evangelists, and pray that many of these conversations will lead people beyond simply listening to the Gospel to finding forgiveness, hope, and new life in Jesus Christ.

October 7

Kuanysh, one of our listeners in Kazakhstan, recently reached out to us with sincere questions. Through communication with our team, he began thinking more deeply about Jesus and the Gospel. We can see that God is stirring questions in his heart. Please pray that these conversations would continue, and that Kuanysh would come to know the truth and peace found in Christ.

October 8

Please pray for Christian bloggers and content creators in Kyrgyzstan. Many of them face pressure, criticism, and even persecution from some Muslims because they speak openly about Christ. Please pray that God would strengthen their hearts, protect them, and give them courage, wisdom, and love to keep sharing the Gospel through social media.

October 9

Please pray for a woman in Uzbekistan who reached out to us through a promoted post while feeling deeply hopeless and searching for meaning. Our team shared with her about a relationship with God, sent Scripture, a film about Jesus, and a digital Bible. Now she says she is reading Scripture day and night, and when she cannot read, she listens to the audio version. Please pray that as she continues reading God's Word, her heart would open to Jesus Christ and she would accept Him as her Lord and Savior.

October 10

Please continue to pray for the upcoming influencers' conference in Moscow, Russia. Please pray for the preparation process, for God to bring the right people, and for this gathering to encourage and strengthen those who share the Gospel through media.

October 11

Please pray for new hosts in Ukraine who are already beginning to join our programs. Pray that God would help them adapt quickly, become part of the ministry, and serve with confidence, wisdom, and a heart for people.

October 12

Please pray for a subscriber from Moldova who recently shared a beautiful testimony. For a long time, she followed our content while still living in a way that was far from God, but at some point her heart began to change. Today she sent a video of herself standing in front of a church and praying a prayer of repentance. Please pray that the Lord would strengthen her new faith, help her grow, and continue using online ministry to lead people to Christ.

October 13

Please pray for wisdom and open doors for Christian media workers in Kyrgyzstan. May current and future restrictions on religious activity not become a barrier to sharing the Gospel through the internet, radio, and social media.

October 14

Please pray for a young man in Uzbekistan who connected with us. He shared that he feels stuck in life and later opened up about a destructive habit he cannot overcome on his own. Our team is continuing to speak with him and share the Gospel. Please pray that he would come to Jesus Christ, find true freedom, and receive strength to begin a new life with God.

October 15

Please pray for Shyngys and other young people in Kazakhstan who heard the Gospel through Eldar, one of the young people on our team. After seeing Eldar's video about his faith in Jesus, Shyngys and other classmates became interested and began asking questions about why he believes and why he shares these videos. Since then, they have met several times and even joined a video call to talk more about Jesus, the Bible, and faith. Please pray that God would continue working in their hearts and lead them to the truth in Christ.

October 16

Please pray for several people in Russia who recently wrote to our blogger Stella asking where they could find an evangelical church. Stella helped them by sending church addresses and, where possible, connecting them with people she knew in those churches. We thank God that people are reaching out with such questions. Please pray that they would actually visit these churches and be warmly received.

October 17

Please pray that the attitude of Muslims toward Christians in Kyrgyzstan would change. May distrust, stereotypes, and hostility be replaced with respect, openness, and a desire to understand what Christians believe. Through personal conversations and Christian content, may people see the love of Christ.

October 18

Please pray for a young woman from Moldova who once reached out to us during a very difficult season in her life. She was struggling in her relationship with her father and in her personal life, and our team spent a lot of time speaking with her about God's love and hope. At times it seemed like she could not fully hear what we were sharing, but we continued praying for her. Recently, she wrote that she came to church, repented, joined a Christian youth community, and has now been baptized. We thank God for His mercy and ask Him to guide her future and her personal life.

October 19

Please pray for our brother Daulet, who is currently in Mongolia on a mission trip. Many Kazakhs living outside Kazakhstan still speak their native language, and some have already connected with our broadcasts and heard the Gospel in Kazakh. In Mongolia, Daulet is planning to meet with several of our listeners and share more about faith in Jesus Christ. Please pray for God's grace, protection, and guidance in his ministry, and that the hearts of those he meets would be open to the Gospel.

October 20

Please pray for people in Kyrgyzstan who come across Christian content and begin asking questions about God and Jesus. Even a simple question, like “Then who is God?”, can open the door for a deeper conversation about faith. Please pray that people would not stop at arguments, but would sincerely search for answers, remain open to dialogue, and come to know Jesus Christ.

October 21

Please pray for Umida, one of our team members in Uzbekistan. We thank God that her father and brother have accepted Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. Please also pray for Umida's health, as she has been experiencing some concerns again. May God bring complete healing, strength, and full restoration.

October 22

Please pray for Anya, the host of our children's project, who took part in a summer camp for children in Armenia. Many of the children were not from church families, and Anya had the opportunity to talk with them and their parents, share about her channel, and show them videos. Please pray that the seeds planted there would bear fruit, and that children and their parents would come to Christ.

October 23

Please pray for Inzhu, an 18-year-old listener from Kazakhstan. She first connected with our brother Ulan through his live broadcasts and began asking sincere questions about Jesus, faith, and Christian life. Recently, she shared that she has come to God and is now studying in Izmir, Turkey, where she is looking for a community of believers. Please pray that God would strengthen her young faith, encourage her heart, and lead her to a church where she can grow and be supported.

October 24

Please pray for one of our listeners from Moldova, with whom we spoke about Christ about a year ago. For some time, we stayed in contact as he was taking his first steps in faith, asking many questions, and we tried to gently point him to Jesus. Recently, he unexpectedly wrote that he has accepted water baptism, found a church, and is already serving there. We thank God for this beautiful testimony and pray that his faith will continue to grow and be strengthened.

October 25

Please pray for Sardor, one of our team members in Uzbekistan. He needs God's help and guidance with the paperwork for his home. Please also pray for the guidance of the Holy Spirit during his live broadcasts, and that God would touch the hearts of the listeners.

October 26

Please pray for open doors for the Gospel in Kyrgyzstan. Despite changes in the regulation of religious activity, may God continue to create new opportunities for personal conversations, Christian content, and the sharing of His Word. May nothing stop people from hearing the Good News of Jesus Christ.

October 27

Please pray for Aruzhan, a young woman in Kazakhstan who recently started attending our youth gatherings in Almaty. At first, she was very quiet and reserved, but little by little she began to open up, smile more, and build connections with girls from our team. She comes from a Muslim family and is now trying to understand and compare different beliefs. Please pray that God would gently lead her heart and help her find the truth in Jesus.

Aruzhan is on the right

October 28

Please pray for a young man from Russia who had been in contact for a long time with our blogger Angelina and her husband. Recently, Angelina shared with gratitude that he has been baptized. Please pray that the Lord would strengthen him in faith and help him continue growing in his walk with Christ.

October 29

Please pray for Kristina, one of our influencers from Moldova, and for her ministry among women. Recently, more and more women have been writing to her; one girl shared that because of Kristina's Bible reading challenge, she started reading the Bible online even while at work. Please pray that God would continue blessing Kristina's ministry and touching the hearts of women who follow her content.

October 30

Please pray for our team in Ukraine and for all our listeners living in cities under attack. Since the end of August, Kyiv has faced almost constant air alerts, making daily life and even travel to the studio very difficult. In September, Russian attacks also began targeting critical infrastructure again, causing problems with electricity and water supply. Please pray that God would protect people's lives, strengthen our team, and give peace and endurance to everyone living under these attacks.
